CD152, p.51. Oswald's literature distribution. Nick Palmisano, Royal Orleans Hotel, WDSU

The reason for questioning Palmisano at this late date is not clear. It need not have been to identify Lawrence, already well identified. He was not there and there is no reason to connect any of the people in the pictures with him or his hotel.

Shaw was well known at the hotels, but it is my recollection he was most often at the Roosevelt.

With all the things that were to be done in this investigatinn, this seems like a time-wasting futility unless the FBI had reason to suspect someone registered at the Royal Orleans Hotel, one of the better ones, in the French Quarter, may have somehow been involved.